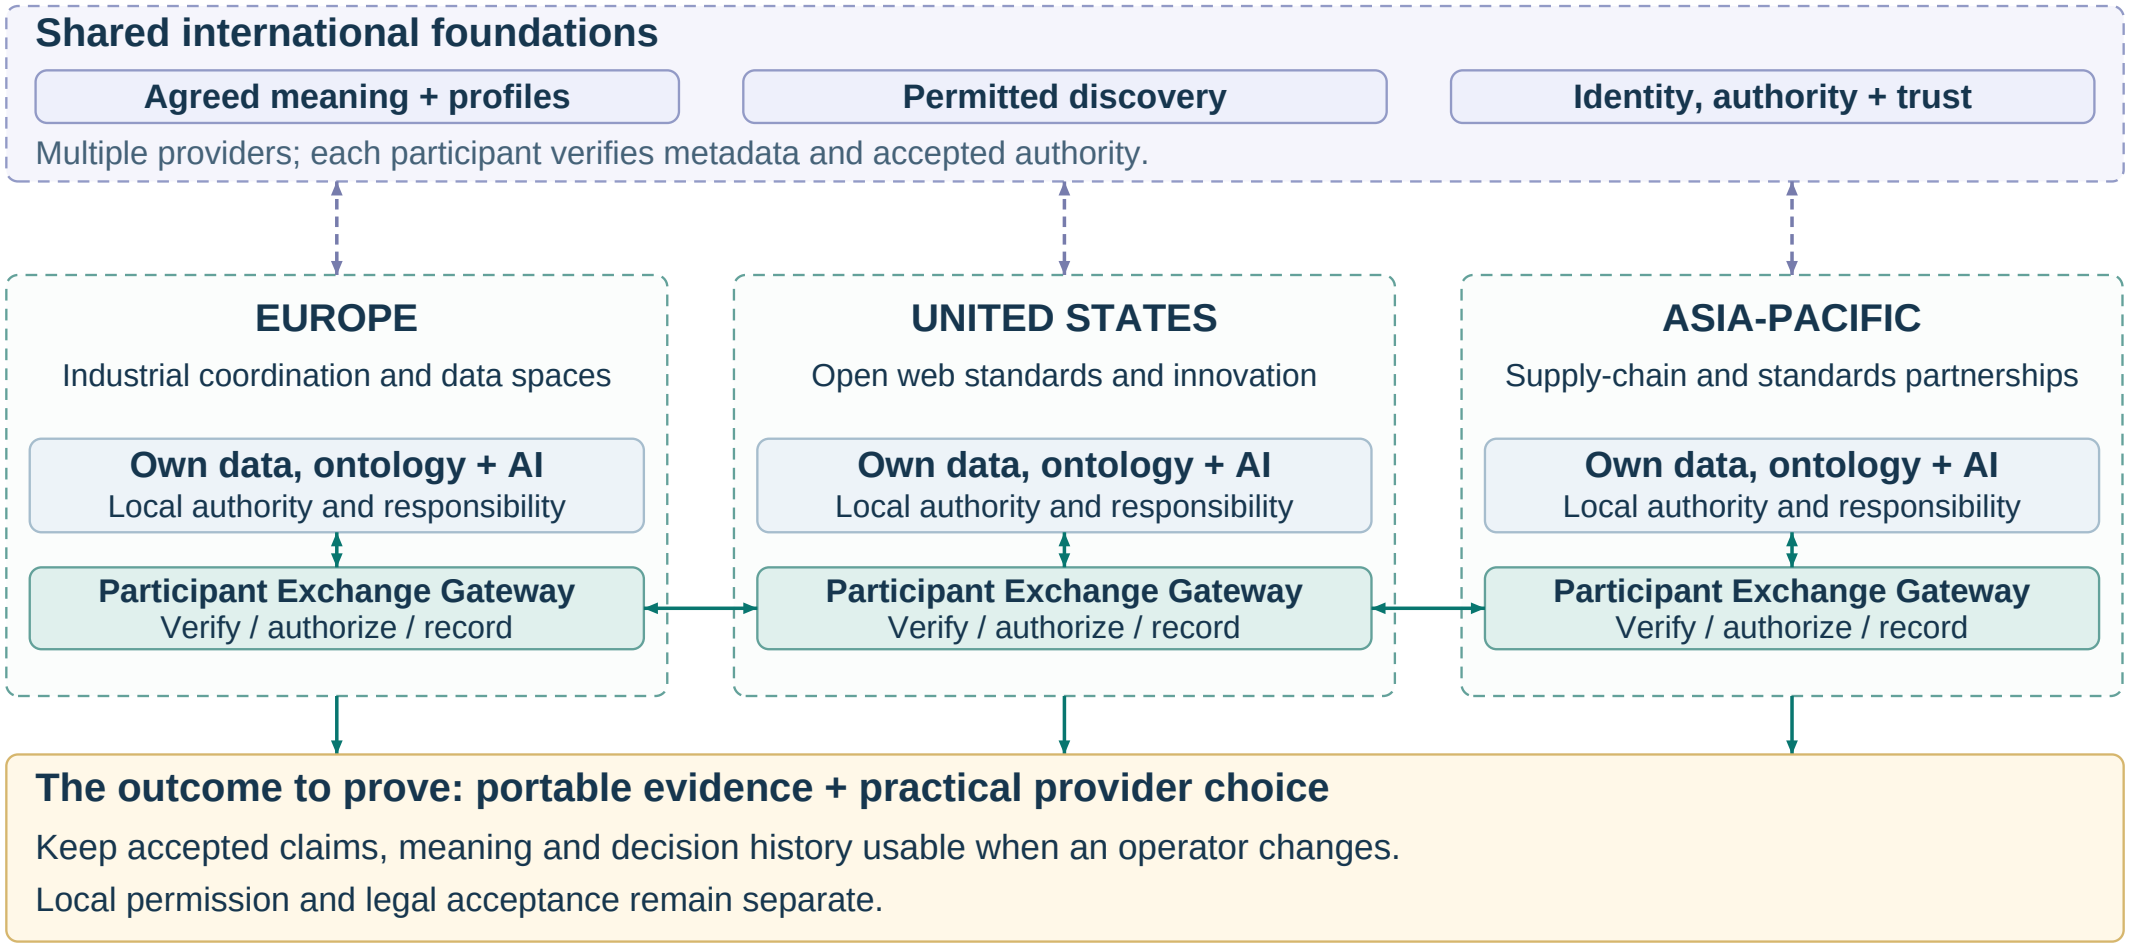
Europe can lead through cooperation

Build open agreements that companies can use, test and help govern.



Proposed cooperation, not a deployed global system, automatic mutual recognition or a mandatory central hub.

Regional contributions are illustrative; organizations from all regions can perform and help govern the same roles.